

#CiteNLM

Guide for Organizers

National Library of Medicine
Network of the National Library of Medicine

The Guide: So You Want to Organize

The Network of the National Library of Medicine (NNLM) is a program coordinated by the National Library of Medicine (NLM) and carried out through a nationwide network of health science libraries and information centers. NNLM's mission is to advance the progress of medicine and improve public health by providing all U.S. health professionals with equal access to biomedical information and improving the public's access to information to enable them to make informed decisions about their health.

The objective of #CiteNLM is to improve the credibility and content of information on medicine and health-related articles on Wikipedia.

This guide is intended to help you organize a #CiteNLM edit-a-thon at your organization during our annual campaign.

If you have any additional questions after reading the guide please visit our Wikipedia Edit-a-thon website.

Table of Contents

1. #CiteNLM
2. Checklist
3. Participant's Guide

#CiteNLM

Reaching more people in more ways.

Making it easier to get credible,
evidence-based health information online.

Leveraging NLM's resources +
Network members' expertise, experiences, and audiences.

Checklist

- Find a venue

All you need is access to the Internet and space to sit and work. If you can reserve laptops for participants, do so!

- Secure the date and time

Select a day that falls within the #citeNLM campaign period. Learn to edit with these training modules and videos. Review the article on How to Edit from WikiProject Medicine, as the rules of editing medical articles are different.

- Create your Wikipedia username and password

- Add your program to the CiteNLM campaign dashboard. Find it here

- Enable account creation on your program dashboard

- Promote your event

Post the event on online calendars and blogs for your library and institution and library social media accounts. Email your institutional listserv and reach out to institutions, organizations, and departments who might be interested.

- Share the participant's guide at least two weeks before your event

Participant's Guide

Step 1: Create a free account on Wikipedia

Step 2: Register on our campaign dashboard. Find it here

- Sign-up to independently participate in our virtual edit-a-thon or find another event happening during the campaign period
- If you're a new editor, or new to WikiProject Medicine, complete the training modules on Wikipedia Basics and/or Editing Medical Topics

Step 3: Find an article that needs a citation. Here are some strategies:

- Choose one of the pre-selected articles on the program dashboard
- Find an article with sourcing or other problems
- Select an article while browsing pages related to the campaign theme

Step 4: Cite a source

- Find a source from an NLM product or other reliable website to support the article
- Add a citation using Wikipedia Style (learn more about adding citations)
- Add the project hashtag #CiteNLM in the Wikipedia Edit Summary

Step 5: Share!

- Include the hashtag #CiteNLM in your social media posts about the event and follow the hashtag to interact with fellow Wikipedians

Happy editing!

National Library of Medicine

Network of the National Library of Medicine